

Important Information for Purchasing Goods

- The products presented during the meeting, “barrels containing apple or apple/pear balsamic vinegar (Cuvée) with storage”, constitute goods.
- The goods sold are stored in MTFS warehouses. During storage, the goods sold are insured against water damage, fire and other damage caused by natural elements, as well as against theft.
- Balsamic vinegar is a natural product. The properties and climatic conditions at the storage location result in evaporation during the storage period. MTFS makes no guarantee regarding quantities after the maturation period.
- The goods sold remain the property of MTFS until full payment of the purchase price and all outstanding amounts related to the contract has been made.
- No definitive forecast can be made regarding economic performance. In the event of negative performance of the goods, a total loss is possible. MTFS assumes no responsibility for the achievement of the economic, tax or other objectives of the beneficial owner of the goods.
- If MTFS does not find a purchaser after the storage period expires, the owner must arrange for the transfer of the goods themselves if they wish or are required to do so. They may also take delivery of the goods or continue to have them stored. The General Terms and Conditions of Sale apply.
- Future decisions by tax authorities, changes in legislation and case law may have a decisive influence on the tax treatment of the purchase or sale of goods.
- MTFS's General Terms and Conditions of Sale (GTC), which form an integral part of the Purchase Order and Storage Agreement, are binding. They are available free of charge on the website www.essence-reserve.com.
